PARIS COUTURE: A NEW "DETENTE?"

THE LOOK: Sophisticated Sportswear.

SILHOUETTES: Body-conscious, but not -clinging ... focus now on the hips: rounded hipline -- via hip-banded blouson (Yves St. Laurent) -- via SPOOL TORSO, tucked, shirred, smocked or pleated from below-bust to hip (Givenchy, Pierre Cardin), with flounced hem (St. Laurent). TUCKED TORSO (Chanel) -- dropped waistlines ...
TUNICS, mostly 7/8 length, flounced, fringed, tiered and layered over a multitude of pants and skirts ... LENGTH: Anywhere below knee.

"REAL SUITS" RETURN: Cropped MESS JACKETS, boxy shirtsuits, fur-hooded short parkas (Dior) -- short, hip-fitted, crisply man-tailored and square shouldered (YSL, Ricci), broad-shouldered (Ungaro), many double-breasted ... contrast-crochet edged (Chanel), also encircling armhole, on long-torso sweater-jackets (YSL) ... SKIRTS: THE SIDE-WRAP-AND-TIE makes the biggest waves, is only a distant relative of the "kilt"
-- sometimes narrow, most often knife-pleated and mobile, with a pocket on its underpanel -- for day and evening ... tabcollared print SHIRTS, shirt-and-tie.

COATS, CAPES, PONCHOS: HOODED Sportswear
coats -- duffle, trench, loden, parkas even lined with precious fur, and in drawstring silk with silver fox hood, for evening -- many have big, square-cut sleeves
... 7/8 TUNIC COATS ... fur-trimmed navy
"police" coats ... hooded COSSACKS ... collarless SMOCK COATS with deep side slits
... WAIST-TIED, on both sides or in back (Philippe Venet) ... FLOWING and SHOOTING
CAPES, voluminous, in unlined luxury fabrics ... PONCHO COATS for the rain have buttoned sleeves (Givenchy).

DRESSES: SWEATER SEPARATES ... SWEATER

PRETTY JUMPSUITS GET THE JUMP ON RESORT

JUMPSUITS, PANTSUITS: Jumpsuits, long and short, waist-nipped with drawstring or belt, zip-front or buttoned, crisp by day, sexy and sinuous by night (Leo Narducci/Midtown Farmhouse, Ruffinsport, Adele Simpson, St. Gillian) -- mechanic's, in ivory poly/satin (Don Simonelli/Danielle), in Nino poplin with loop-closed buttons, overall style in rainbow-striped Indian and men's shirting cotton, also pleated-pants style (Margit Brandt) -- in glazed chintz, knit
"chintz" in jade, raspberry or turquoise.
Nyesta jersey, in ivory pebble-stitch cotton-knit with raglan cap-sleeves and tucks let out at hip (Ronald Kolodzie/Concept VII) ...
PANTSUITS: with blazers, flannel with sleeve buttons & buttonholes, men's tab-buttoned back pockets on pants (Simonelli), white wool, also silky poly/cotton poplin (Ruffinsport) ... textured poly/knit patch pocketed drawstring pants/popover blouson (Brandt)
... black linen weskit, trousers & jacket (Concept VII).

DRESSES, SEPARATES: Wrap 'n tie, especially back-wrap dresses & skirts ... tunics ...
CAP-SLEEVED: with Raggedy Ann applique (Gene Berk/g.b.3) -- light-striped acrylic jerseys with new diagonal, broken-grid or stripe-massing side-tucking, amusing appliques on bodice or scarf (Albert Nipon) -- Orlon jersey sashed smock with caped saddle shoulders (St. Gillian) ... JUMPERS: black cotton halter-top, solo or with white blouse (Nipon) -- in Ultrasuede: white with striped jersey blouse, long cap-sleeved jumper with bowneck print blouse (Belle Saunders/Abe Schrader), pinafore-jumper, back-tied and

SNAPPY ACCESSORIES SPICE ITALIAN FASHIONS

The Italians have always had a flair for accessories -- they wrap a belt here, tie a scarf there. And when high fashion is at stake, the right accessories can make or break a look.

THE UBIQUITOUS SHAWL: triangular, fringed, enormous, snuggled over everything at every hour -- in matching jersey, mohair, cashmere (Valentino, Schoen, Riva). Diaphanous shawls match evening dresses -- beaded, pailletted, in georgette, crepe, chiffon (Balestra, Centinaro). STOLES are long on looks, often fur trimmed. Fluffy marabou and ostrich BOAS. PONCHOS are sporty, often belted -- even layered over turtleneck sweaters (Lancetti). Everything adds to the stratified onion look -- sometimes five or six levels to an outfit.

THE VERSATILE VEST adds snap to suits, dresses, evening costumes -- in tweed, chamois, velvet and spanking crocheted stripes (Tiziani) ... matched to a skirt and contrasted with a bright silk blouse (Fabiani).

WAISTLINES ARE BACK IN FOCUS and take to wide leather belts, easy drawstrings (Valentino), chains, and crushy obi sashes in satin. The Sculptured snake belt in gold or silver with colored stones added for evening.

HEADS ARE SMALL with neat jersey and felt cloches ... rakish Tyroleans ... snappy, Basque berets (Laug, San Lorenzo). The Russian Czarina snuggled deep in fox and suede (Galitzine) ... jazzed-up Manchurian models with fur and felt wound 'round and 'round for a thick, rolled-up brim (Valentino) ... the rich gypsy turbans in vivid silk prints to match Thousand and One Nights' dresses (Lancetti).

NECKLACES ARE LONG ON MILEAGE: Chanel revival with Maltese crosses, large pendants, lengthy chains of mini-links in crystal... multi-threaded bracelets (Borbone for Galitzine, Ognibene-Zendman).

Necklaces -- jade, emerald, pearl lookalikes. Exotic animal brooches -- foxy faces... insect forms (Bozart for Barocco, Riva; Caracciolo for Laug, Sarli). The evening trousse of gilded brass.

BEST FEET ARE PUT FORWARD in pointed toes and thin heels -- as much as four inches. Insteps take to straps ... vamps are decollete for dressy styles (Barilla, Raphael Salato). The laced granny takes to more sensible, squatter heels. Shoes are colored bottle green, rust, graphite blue, grey and black ...

BOOTS IN FULL FORCE: kid/suede; suede/patent combos ... exit the flappy musketeer, enter ankle shaping. It's a grey heydey, often two-toned, usually suede (Mario Valentino).

LEGS ARE SHEATHED in flesh-colored sheers with occasional seams. Black or brown mattes show for sport. Fine diamonds streamline the leg ... thin stripes add a contrasting satin finish (Bloch, Malerba, Santagostino).
